

Hi All

We had a great start to our first lesson in May. Thank you so sincerely to Imvula for their GREAT venue and thank you to 24/7 Security for their support.

A really special thank you to all residents who see the merit in these lessons. Bless Wendy Robertson, she is one in a million for organising everything!

Also a big thank you to the SAPS Sector Managers for attending the first lesson. They always add so much value and build strong relationships with all who attend.

June Lesson:

All Lessons are held at Imvula Skills Centre, 22 Packard Street, Woodmead on Last Thursday @ 12h30

Month	Day	Date	Time	Venue
June	Thursday	29	12h30	22 Packard Street, Woodmead

Our Topic: “Habits and Routines to Avert Crime”

This lesson is jam packed with such important crime prevention tips - criminals patrol our streets and observation of victims continues right up until they are ready to commit crime.

The criminals ARE WATCHING US and have ascertained their targets in advance.

They love to attack during the day when domestics and gardeners are in and out of the property and when alarms are off.

We have to equip employees with an abundance of “One Step Ahead skills” of the criminals new habits and routines and how to avoid them and the home owners from being attacked.

The written lesson handout is comprehensive, PLEASE read this with your employee and ask them what they learned.

The stories to enhance the lesson are not in the handout but provide great lessons and entertainment to the attendees at the workshops.

Thank you to those who receive this email for forwarding it to your community members, family and friends to encourage more good people to DO SOMETHING to stop the crime war!

It is never too late to join the MAD (Making A Difference) ARMY!

Sincerely

Pens

❖ Wendy Robertson is the co-coordinator and Penny Steyn is the writer and presenter of all crime prevention lessons and requests R50.00 per attendee for her contribution to crime prevention in your suburb.

❖ Domestic Watch is not a “course” that begins and ends. It is an ongoing process of lessons teaching crime prevention and keeping abreast of current trends in criminal activity and methods of self and household protection against criminals

❖ Employers, Domestics and Gardeners are all welcomed.

❖ The Police will attend whenever possible to add valuable information & build a relationship with the attendees.

❖ Refreshments are served and contributions are sincerely welcomed.

❖ The meeting starts promptly at 12h30. Registration 12h00. Lesson duration 1 hour.

❖ T-shirts and Aprons available with MAD logo – R80 each.

❖ Crime will be reduced if large numbers of domestics and gardeners attend to be trained to prevent crime, pass on information without putting their lives in danger and motivated to become an integral part of the crime challenge.
